LIGHTNING BLOWS UP U. S. NAVY'S AMMUNITION DEPOT — HUNDRED MILLIONS DAMAGE; LOSS OF LIFE MAY BE HEAVY; AUTOS OVERTURNED ON ROAD

Dover, N. J., July 12.—Fire and barrages of exploding shells today were preventing complete toll of the war-like death and havoc wrought in peace time when lightning caused the navy's largest ammunition depot, that at Lake Denmark, N. J., 35 miles west of Jersey City, to blow up Saturday afternoon. Ten persons are reported dead, three of whom have been recovered and identified. Thirty-three persons are listed as missing. Damage of $100,000,000 is estimated by the army and navy officials on the scene. For a radius of 30 miles, houses were shaken and automobiles overturned on the highways and barrage of shells, smoke and fire checked the entrance of investigators.

The Lake Denmark depot was the navy's largest ammunition storage establishment covering more than 500 acres. During the war it was extended by an addition of 183 new buildings and other extensions of considerable magnitude. The depot was a storage place where ammunition and supplies were received and forwarded to other points when needed.

Flames which started when lightning struck a T.N.T. magazine Saturday afternoon, still smoldered among the debris of 200 buildings demolished within the reservation limits and danger from further bombardments as new ammunition stores were reached, made it highly dangerous to enter the area.

Identified Dead
The identified dead are: Lieut. Geo. Poole, Richmond, Va.; Harry C. Brown, pharmacist, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; and Mrs. Francis Keeney, of Brooklyn, a visitor to the plant. The seven other bodies were seen in the ruins by watchers from a nearby hillside.

No list of enlisted men and civilians missing has yet been made public by the officers.

Roads leading to the devastated area are under close military guard, the soldiers so assigned having difficulty in keeping out curiosity seekers.

The four or five hundred refugees from the villages of Mount Hope, Rockaway, Denmark and Hibernia, stumbled from their homes as they began to fall about them, following the first blasts, were content to remain out of the danger zone.

Thirty-three persons are reported missing, most of them having been stationed on the reservation. Army rescue work said it might be three or four days before the flames would die down sufficiently to permit a careful investigation of the area.

T. R. Buchanan, assistant national director of disaster relief from Washington, estimated today that there are 900 refugees from the area surrounding the naval arsenal at Dover.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF "LOTTIE" BELOVED WIFE OF CORP. JOHNSON
The angels trumpet sounded, And our loved one passed away From this world of gloom and sorrow.
To a land of perfect day— To a land where there is no trouble, Where tears are never seen, And springs of living water Flow over the banks of green; And where that new chorus Of Christ for sinners slain Is taken up by thousands Who echo back the strain.

Her life on earth was peaceful, Her death-bed like a dream; "I have no fear," she whispered, "To cross the Jordan stream; For Christ has gone before me To guide my steps aright; I'm passing through the valley Into his wondrous light— I see a glorious vision Of saints redeemed and blessed And one seems coming towards me Far brighter than the rest— He seems to call me to Him, Farewell I dare not stay, I'm going higher and higher And Jesus leads the way."

FUNERAL OF MRS. ANNIE NIBILL
The funeral took place on Monday morning from the Holy Cross church, of Mrs. Annie Nibill, wife of Robert Nibill, farmer of the Mud Lake district, who died at the Galt Hospital, Lethbridge, on Friday, July 9th. Mrs. Nibill was 67 years of age, and was born at Aurora, Hastings County, Ontario, at which place Mr. and Mrs. Nibill were married in August of 1899. The Nibill family came west in April of 1918 and located in the Mud Lake district, having purchased the farm where they now reside. Mrs. Nibill suffered from an attack of flu about Easter this year, from the effects of which, together with complications setting in, she succumbed on Friday. The deceased lady was very highly respected by a large circle of friends and neighbors, and their sympathy goes out to the bereaved family in their great loss. Mrs. Nibill is survived by her husband, one daughter Mrs. L. Couillard of Mud Lake, and four sons. The funeral services today were conducted by the Rev. Father Murphy of Lethbridge, in the absence of Father Ross of the Holy Cross church. The pall bearers were D. Cyr, J. M. Smith, F. W. Butcher, G. Sheffield, P. Stapleton and J. Jordan. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Lake Denmark. Six hundred of these are being cared for at Morristown and 300 in and around Dover.

In many instances families were widely separated, but all have been reunited but two. Mr. Buchanan reported one man still unable to find his wife and three children and another two children.

The injured, according to Mr. Buchanan, number about 200, of which 50 are severely, but not dangerously hurt.

The reason for the greater crowd of refugees at Morristown, is the general fright and desire on the part of many to get as far away from the scene as possible.

So sudden came the initial blast that precautions for safety could not be taken. One story told by a marine who escaped by crawling along the shaking ground after being hurled 40 feet into the air, was the following: The flash of lightning, the fire siren was sounded. While the enlisted men on duty ran toward the magazine there was a flash which sent flames four hundred feet into the air, he said, and the concussion crushed the brick and stone houses like egg shells.

Then followed shower of 14 and 16 inch shells. They were stacked, officials said, on the base, thus causing them to shoot straight into the air. Had it not been thus, the surrounding towns would have been cut to pieces by direct shell fire.

Dover, N.J., July 12.—A revised list of the casualties in the Denmark explosion this afternoon showed that 17 persons were known to be dead, only three of these being identified.

Forty-four U.F.A. members returned — Bow Valley and Athabasca still uncertain on declaration day

Edmonton, July 8.—Declaration Day in Alberta finds the Farmer party returned to power, with a strength to date of 44 seats. The Liberals have five, Labor five and Conservatives four. In this way 58 of the 60 seats are accounted for. The two missing seats are Athabasca, not yet ready to report, and Bow Valley, where a recount is to be made.

THREE HUNDRED MEN ARE FIGHTING WINDMERE BLAZE

Motorists returning from Banff Tuesday afternoon declared that ashes could be discerned in the air there when puffs of wind blew in from the fire region to the west. The fire was believed to be near Marble canyon shortly after noon. Special dispatches to The Herald from Invermere, B. C., on Tuesday morning indicate the increasing seriousness of the big forest fire raging on the Kootenay river near the western entrance of Kootenay national park. The blaze is only a few miles from the Banff-Windermere road.

The efforts of 300 men the flames were making headway south on the Kootenay river and northeast on the Vermilion river, fanned by fitful gusts of wind.

Loss of big timber already sustained is incalculable and vast stands of valuable trees are still menaced. Thousands of big game animals, which have always enjoyed sanctuary in the park, are also in danger, and it is believed that many have been destroyed.

Scenic Beauty Destroyed
Bits of incomparable scenic beauty have been reduced to unsightly acres of blackened tree stumps.

The occasional windstorms that have fanned the flames have frequently promised rain since the fire was started by lightning last week, but the weather has remained hot and dry.

Fifty men were sent from Calgary by the early morning westbound train. They are expected to join the fire fighters near Kootenay Crossing this morning.

JULY ROD AND GUN

Published for the first time, the official photographs and account of the Canadian Government Arctic Expedition of 1925 will interest readers of Rod and Gun. The story of the trip to the ice fields with its three full pages of unusual photographs is only one of the interesting features of the July issue of Rod and Gun, just published. Bourmont to Maniwaki is a yarn of a canoe trip in the wilds of Quebec, well told by J. Jenkins, while William E. Dalton has some good wrinkles for travelers.

Bonnycastle Dale this month tells something of the Exquisitely Furred Destroyers, namely the mink and the weasel. Fishing Notes has an interesting line-up for the anglers this month and Fishing Regulations for the current year are included in the issue. Outdoor Talk and Guns and Game with Kennel and J. W. Wilmot's article on the owl are of usual high standard.

Editorially in the June issue, Rod and Gun takes issue with Senator Belcourt's proposed bill to further restrict the sale of firearms. The magazine raises the contention that the bill is not in the interests of Canadian sportsmen and announces its intention of fighting the proposed legislation on that ground.

Rod and Gun is published monthly by W. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

THE SCARLET TANGER

As I sat in my sombre garden One afternoon in spring, There came a burst of color And a flash of gorgeous wing.

A burst of vivid color, A tiny, vital whir— And on my lawn descended A scarlet tanager.

Then, in a singing instant, The earth seemed brown anew; The pale green grass grew greener, The dim blue sky more blue.

The tulips faded and deepened, The hyacinths took heart, The cherry-buds broke open, The roses gave a start.

Till, lo! my sombre garden Awoke and lifted there A flaming torch of beauty Into the April air— H. Thompson, in "I Come Singing."

The directors of the Macleod Agricultural Society met Saturday afternoon, when a large number were present. Mr. Heap, the president, presided. Reports from the various committees for the coming fair were very encouraging, and from all accounts the prospects look very good at this early date, that the 1926 fair will far surpass any held for many years. Livestock of all kinds were never in better shape for bringing into the showing, and the directors are leaving no stone unturned to bring out a large exhibit of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. It is reported that never before in the history of the Macleod district has there been so many real high class animals available to make the biggest display of livestock ever seen on the Macleod fair grounds. Grains, grasses and vegetables should be one of the largest and best displays seen for many years, as the crop prospects at the present time in the district are exceptionally good.

The sport and entertainment part of the fair has not been overlooked by the directors, and the committees in charge of that department are working hard to provide a program of races and sports far superior to any attractions presented before the grandstand for many years. Then the C. F. Zeiger United Shows big midway will be there in full force with all the latest riding devices, shows and attractions, including Wyoming Bill's Real Wild West Zeiger United Shows is the largest and most up-to-date midway that has ever played the Macleod fair, and is reported to be one of the best and cleanest shows on the road.

THE EMPRESS THEATRE — CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

REX BEACH FILM OF ALASKAN ERA FULL OF THRILLS—"THE BARRIER" HAS BEEN DRAMATICALLY FILMED BY GEORGE HILL—HAS SEASON'S BEST CAST — BREATHELESS RESCUES, REALISTIC FIGHTS AND TRAGIC WRECK FEATURES OF FILM

Replete with thrills, beautiful photography and splendid acting by a notable cast of principals, "The Barrier," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer photoplay of Rex Beach's novel, to be at the Empress theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Beach's stirring novel of the Alaskan frontier, where the venerable of civilization dropped from men through their just for gold, has been transferred to the screen with praiseworthy fidelity by Director George Hill. The work of the director is ably seconded by such popular screen stars as Norman Kerry, Lionel Barrymore, Henry B. Walthall, Marceline Day, Pat Harmon, Bert Woodruff and others.

So well do these players acquit themselves that they ably deserve the title of the season's best cast. Norman Kerry and Marceline Day are the focus of romantic interest in the picture. As Lieutenant Meade Burrell, the haughty scion of a proud Virginia family, Kerry is sent to an Alaskan army post, where he meets and loves Neola, played by Marceline Day, a half-breed girl whom he believes white, as does the girl herself, having been raised as the daughter of Gale, the kindly old trader, portrayed convincingly by Henry B. Walthall.

Complication in Discovery
Burrell learns the girl is not white. He is willing to overlook the barrier but the feelings of his aristocratic family must be considered. His decision is made when the girl falls into the clutches of Stark Bennett, the brutal skipper of a whaling ship.

The picture is packed with high-power dramatic thrills. The rescue of the girl from the whaling ship jammed in the ice floes, the furious battle between the young lieutenant and Bennett in the ship's cabin, the struggle between the first mate, essayed by Pat Harmon, and Burrell's orderly, Sergeant Murphy, combine to keep the spectator on the edge of his seat throughout the film.

The picture contains none of the monotonous heroics commonly associated with the stories of the frontier and a well defined vein of comedy, interpreted by George Cooper and Bert Woodruff, permeates throughout.

"The Barrier" is a picture that should not be missed.

TOM MOORE HAS "LUCK OF THE IRISH" — FEATURED PLAYERS IN NEWEST POLA NEGRI — FARCE NEEDS NO FOUR LEAF CLOVERS

The "Luck of the Irish" has always followed Tom Moore. Tom is difficult about commenting on his obvious good qualities, his proven ability, or even his rare fortune. But several of the instances where Irish luck kept him in clover were related by Stuart Holmes, between scenes of "Good and Naughty," Pola Negri's latest Paramount starring picture, which comes to the Empress on Friday and Saturday.

Moore is Miss Negri's leading man in that production and Holmes plays one of the principal roles. Inasmuch as it had been ten years since the two had appeared together, there was considerable reminiscence.

"Tom and I got off a train from New Orleans at the Pennsylvania station one day," Holmes recounted. "He owned two thin dimes. I had absolutely no objectionable features in the whole midway. The public are guaranteed this year the best two days' entertainment, fun and frolic ever presented on the Macleod fair grounds, and each night will finish up with a grand ball in the Hudson's Bay hall, the largest and finest dancing floor in Southern Alberta.

The officers and directors of the society are doing everything in their power to make the fair a big success, but they are helpless in making it a success unless they are backed up by the farmers and exhibitors in bringing out every available exhibit for all classes of the show, and so make the agricultural and exhibition part of the fair a huge success, for it is only by the co-operation of the public by their support and attendance at the show grounds both days of the fair that its greatest success may be attained. If the fair board gets this support, the fair of 1926 will go on record as one of the best fairs ever held by the Macleod Agricultural Society.

nothing. We were wondering what luxuries twenty cents would purchase when Tom was stopped by a man who expressed admiration for a telephone can he was carrying.

"Well, Tom sold the can for $5 and we proceeded happily on our way. In the next block Tom found a diamond stick-pin on the sidewalk. He pawned it for $15.00 and the $20.00 lasted until we both got work."

Incidentally Moore and Holmes both broke into pictures at the same time and collaborated in writing a scenario for their initial appearance. They joined the Kalem Company in New York and were sent to New Orleans to make a one-reel film. Discovering that the director could not begin work, having no scenario, they wrote one for him.

Not the least bit of Tom's Irish luck was his being signed as Pola Negri's leading man in "Good and Naughty." Miss Negri and her director, Malcolm St. Clair, puzzled over the problem of a suitable lead for two weeks. One morning the star and the director rushed toward each other with beaming smiles.

"I know just the man," said St. Clair.

"I've thought of one, too," said Negri.

And by strange coincidence they both burst forth at the same time with the name: "TOM MOORE."

"URSUS TANGO" DANCED WITH A BEAR

Here's the latest dance, flappers! The "Ursus Tango."

All it needs is a bear—and a little bravery.

Marceline Day, pretty screen actress in "The Barrier," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer photoplay of Rex Beach's famous novel showing at the Empress theatre Monday and Tuesday, created it, but doesn't think it will ever be really popular, in the first place because bears are so scarce in Hollywood since they started making pictures there.

Miss Day evolved the dance with Diana, the big Alaskan bear playing in the same cast with her in "The Barrier."

Diana, who is tame as a dog and the pal of everyone on the set, was observed by the actress to keep time to the music of the orchestra on the set.

Miss Day took her on as a dancing partner and now the big bear has dance mania. She wants to dance all the time.

POLA'S LATEST MOVIE "A LOVE COMEDY OF ERRORS"

"A love comedy of errors." This is the substance of Pola Negri's latest Paramount starring picture, "Good and Naughty," which plays at the Empress Theatre Friday and Saturday.

If you have ever been in love with somebody who was in love with somebody else, who in turn was in love with another, and if you have gotten all tangled up in the meshes of Cupid's mistakes, you will profit by—and laugh at—this film.

The picture was directed by that ace of comedy-drama producers, Malcolm St. Clair, and includes in the featured cast Tom Moore and Ford Sterling.

The wrecking of a ship in the ice floes is one of the big thrills of "The Barrier," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion picture from Rex Beach's famous Alaskan story, which comes to the Empress theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

It used to work on mules. Does anybody ever try language on a flivver that balks?

Still, it must have been interesting to hear Ananias hold forth concerning trout fishing.

BRITAIN PAYS THE BILLS

Great Britain's behavior in the war and her attitude towards her debts since the war, in face of serious domestic depression, definitely stamp her as the chief force for international morality in the world today.

At the beginning of the war, Britain threw in every ounce of strength she had. Then she carried the Allies morally and financially until United States came in. And then, without a whimper, she carried practically the whole financial load.

The chief debt settlements, so far, have made the value of the British debt to United States 80.4 per cent, the French debt 50 per cent, the Italian debt only 24.6 per cent.

And yet France, in spite of the depression of the franc, is the most prosperous country in Europe today. There is no unemployment. Every one is busy. It is easier to raise money for foreign enterprises in Paris than in London.

France has a population of some 39 millions. She expects to raise approximately $270,000,000 by taxation this year. Great Britain, with an estimated population of 44 millions, has a budget revenue approaching $300,000,000.

And yet the French claim, for debt purposes, to be the highest taxed nation in Europe.

Where every other nation lost by the war, France gained by it. She acquired the immense iron and potash deposits in Alsace-Lorraine and the coal lands in the Nord.

Britain's position in regard to her war debts is the finest exhibition of sportsmanship in international history.

THE LESSON OF CRIME

Alarmed by the knowledge revealed in the Chapman case that there are organized bands of criminals with crime as their chosen profession active in Eastern United States, New York state is arming itself by new legislation against their depredations.

The new bill increases the penalty for practically every crime. In future there will be no jail term of less than one year.

Paroles are almost entirely eliminated, except in the case of first offenders who have fallen through weakness rather than through inherent viciousness.

There will be no more commutation of sentences. If a man is sent down for five years, he will serve five years, no less. A life sentence will mean life, not ten or twenty years.

In short, New York state has discovered what British courts have long known—that the professional criminal can only be controlled through fear and that in whatever degree he is coddled, to the same degree is society exposed to his ravages.

The lesson of crime is hard to learn. In a new country there is always a disposition to worship justice with burnt offerings of sickly sentiment and overstrained theories of criminal "cures." New York, after 150 years of experiment, is learning its lesson, which is that mad dogs and professional criminals are susceptible to only one kind of treatment—terrorization.

BUY A CAR

One of the cheapest things a man can buy today and one of the best investments is a motor car. There is not a car on the market today that does not give full value for the money. Automotive engineering has passed the experimental stage. The day of "lemons" is gone. An automobile enlarges a man's world. It takes him out into the fresh pure air of the country. It saves his time.

The man without an automobile—and they are built to fit almost every purse—is missing something that adds to life.

Triumph For Telephones

For the first time in Canadian election history, all the results of the recent provincial election in Alberta were handled by telephone, instead of by telegraph, and this result was a triumph for the Alberta Government Telephone Department. In less than three hours after the close of the polls the result of the first choice count in all of the 2,450 polls in the province, including the north country, were known, with the exception of a few from the most isolated polls, the first choices had been tabulated in every constituency.

Nearly 300 people in as many phone exchanges in the province were engaged in the work of collecting the returns. One hundred and eighty-five thousand miles of rural long distance wire carried the news, covering the province with a vast network of telephone communication. Special telephone compiling operators were placed in the daily newspaper offices in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, five at Edmonton handling 26 ridings, four at Calgary handling 16 ridings, and two at Lethbridge handling six ridings. The returns were handed to the newspapers as soon as received, and conveyed over Canadian Press wires. In five constituencies the entire work of compiling all returns was handled by the telephone department.

Record Crowds at Stampede
Record crowds attended the Stampede at Calgary last week. Among prominent outside writers present were Mrs. Piper, Brooklyn Eagle; Frazier Hunt, Associate Editor, Cosmopolitan Magazine and George Lait, of the Hearst Syndicate, son of Jack Lait the author.

Edmonton Pageant
The pageant celebrating the 21st anniversary of the province will be staged at the Edmonton Exhibition the coming week, there being over 900 volunteer actors in the pageant, and a choir of 200 voices. A feature will be the old-timers' parade.

Lethbridge Celebrates
Celebrating the 20th anniversary of the city, Lethbridge held a historical pageant in connection with its exhibition on Dominion Day. In this connection the Lethbridge Herald issued a historical number on the city and the province.

Norwegians Organize
The first Norse Society of Canada was organized at the Norse celebration at Camrose last week, with Dr. Nordbye, of Camrose as president. Attending the celebration was Arne Kildahl, general manager of the Norse Society in Norway; L. Aubert, Consul-General for Norway in Canada, and others. Mr. Kildahl is looking into possibilities for Norse settlement in Alberta.

June Homesteads
A total of 170 homesteads were taken up in northern Alberta in June, according to registrations at the Dominion Land Office in Edmonton.

Hunting Party Coming
Alberta is to be visited this fall by a distinguished hunting party, arranged by Captain Curtis, one of the editors of the Field and Stream, of New York. The party will spend 45 days hunting big game in the province.

Want More Irrigation
Petitions for extension of irrigation in southern Alberta are being made up by farmers at Burdette, Grassy Lake, and Purple Springs.

Many New Settlers Arriving
Nearly 500 settlers registered at the Immigration Hall at Edmonton during June, which is about three times as many as for the same month last year. Since January approximately 3,700 settlers have arrived at the Immigration Hall in Edmonton.

CANADA LEADS THE WORLD WITH WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

(Elizabeth Bailey Price)
There is no country in the world today that has such an organized system to promote the making of better homes, particularly in the rural districts, as Canada. This is done by the various provincial departments of agriculture, in the putting on of short courses in home economics, home nursing, sewing, millinery, etc., through the Women's Institutes of the Maritime provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia, the Home Makers' Clubs of Saskatchewan and the Cercles de Femmes of Quebec.

These organizations are groups of women who, irrespective of race or politics, get together in their various communities, apply to their provincial governmental departments of agriculture for a constitution, which in some cases is a special "act of parliament," and form themselves into one of the above societies to work for "home and country," which is their adoped motto. These are the mediums through which, each year, the provincial governments send out lecturers and demonstrators, each organization forming a class, to which every woman interested is invited. Thus the problem of the isolated woman not being able to have the educational advantages of the larger centres is to some degree solved, for this education is brought to her own home district.

Organized in 1897
The first Woman's Institute was brought into being in the little village of Stoney Creek, Ont., 29 years ago, in February, 1897, by 110 women and girls. Their chief objects were to better rural home conditions, provide a special medium for the country women and generally raise the standard of living.

This Canadian idea, which was destined to become a solution for an international need, was the practical working out of certain ideals for rural home betterment, advanced at that time by the daughter of a Canadian farmer, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless of Hamilton. She was one of the pioneers who advocated science applied to home management and care of the family on a farm, as well as in the production of high-grade stock.

She addressed many gatherings on this subject, among them being a meeting of the Experimental Union in Guelph in 1896. Attending, there happened to be a young farmer, Erland Lee, secretary of the South Wentworth Farmers' Institutes, one of the many similar organizations promoted and assisted by the Ontario department of agriculture for the scientific advancement of farming. Mr. Lee was so impressed by the address of Mrs. Hoodless that he suggested it be given at the

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

Your Sheep Deserve Attention

As time goes on, progressive farmers are placing a higher valuation on the variety of sheep they raise and the care they give them. It is generally realized that a sheep raiser secures two crops per year—the lambs and the wool. All indications point to a well sustained price for lamb and mutton due to the fact that consumption has at last overtaken production and prices being paid for wool, mutton and lambs are, even now, most inviting.

Compared with other live stock, sheep raising provides a profitable source of cash income. Early lambs can be made ready for market by June and when the wool is harvested and sold in June and July, this revenue is received at a season when most needed by the average farmer. There are many instances where farm flocks of sheep have kept farmers out of debt. In one instance, 50 ewes produced 65 lambs which when marketed averaged 66 pounds at 15c per pound or a total of $648.37. The wool clipped from the 50 ewes averaged a trifle over seven pounds per head and brought well over a $100.00 or a total of almost $800.00 from the flock of only 50 ewes.

Such a harvest, however, is not possible without a return by the owner. He must lay the foundation by securing a desirable ram and must have good basic value in the breed of sheep he is raising.

While there are more than 1,575,000 shearable sheep in Canada, only approximately 29,000 are pure-bred. Annually the number of pure-bred sheep increase in proportion to the total number of sheep, which is a favorable indication for a continuance of quality for years to come. The sheep owner realizes that only or quality may he build a permanent profitable business in sheep raising.

A close study of breeds most suitable to existing conditions and most advanced methods of feeding and care, always carries with it a large dividend in results obtained. Your sheep deserve good attention.

South Westworth winter series of meetings. This was arranged and Mrs. Hoodless' idea was so well received at Stoney Creek that it was decided to start at once the "Women's Department" of the Farmers' Institutes of South Westworth. The branch was called first the Saltfleet Township Institute, but later changed to Stoney Creek.

Improving Homes

Its objects as set forth in the constitution were:

1. To promote that knowledge of household science that would lead to improvement in home architecture with special attention to sanitation.

2. To a better understanding of the economic and hygienic value of foods and fuels.

3. To a scientific care of children with a view to raising the general standard of the health of our people.

The membership fee was set at 25 cents per year in order that no girl or woman over 14 might be deterred by the cost from becoming an active member.

So successful was that small organization and so far did "Those echoes roll from soul to soul," "And grow forever and forever," that two other widely separated points, Whitby, Ontario County, and Kemble, Grey County, formed similar organizations within the year. They are still going successfully.

CHURCH DIGNITARIES PAY VISIT TO CANADA

Taken Up in Other Provinces

Other provinces took it up and in some instances agricultural colleges became aware of its economic value and gave official and authoritative encouragement to the movement. "Woman's Institute" branches were formed in governmental departments with a governmental official in charge, one who arranged short course itineraries, distributed helpful literature on care and feeding of children, home canning and other topics pertaining to home management.

Very shortly the United States imitated the idea, organizing its state home bureaus and departments. Some years ago the Belgian government sent a commission to Canada to inquire into the working out of Women's Institutes. On its return the commission recommended their formation in Belgium, under the general name of "Circles de Femmes." They have proven successful and won a place for themselves in farm and village life.

Idea Goes to England

In 1915, one year after the declaration of the Great War, a Canadian woman, Mrs. Alfred Watt of Victoria, B.C., took the idea with her to England. It came at the time when the British women were organizing their resources to help win the war. The idea caught like a prairie fire and spread rapidly. It meant the need of the mobilization of the women forces.

They banded together in institutes to study home economics and the preservation of food. They started co-operative enterprises such as jam factories, laundries, etc. They purchased expensive labor-saving household equipment such as vacuum cleaners, knitting machines, etc., for community use. They organized committees for minding children and carrying on homes, while all who could went on the land to fill the men's places. They provided a wholesome medium of amusement, especially for the lonely women whose menfolk were fighting in the trenches. Queen Mary became so interested that she allowed herself to be elected president of the Sandringham branch. Today there are 3,300 branches in England, it being recognized that no other modern movement had had such a far-reaching effect on village and rural life as this.

The Canadian motto, "Home and Country," is the name given to the British Women's Institute paper, which has some 32,000 subscribers. Mrs. Watt was given the decoration M.B.E. by the King for the service she had done in bringing over and promoting the idea.

Although organized primarily to better home conditions in rural communities, in the years of its existence the scope of institute work has widened. Activities are carried on mainly through six committees, these being child welfare and public health, education and better schools, immigration, Canadianization, agriculture, home economics and legislation.

Feeding the Family

From the very beginning institute members worked to raise the standard of health in the family. They made a study of proper ways of feeding, clothing and housing, particularly the children. This was done by having members give papers on such subjects as proper food for children, sanitation in the home, control of infectious diseases, etc., and having discussions on these, Ontario owes its medical inspection in rural schools to the pioneer work done by the Women's Institutes. This was followed by the school nurse, who visited the homes and pointed out the physical defects of the children to the parents and giving the mother advice on proper food, etc. Menus for meals and school lunches, with the right food combinations have been exhibited at

Fine Immigration Work

There is perhaps no more potent organization in the work of Canadianization and immigration than the Women's Institute. Situated as they are from Fort McMurray to Grand Pre, they have a distinct point of vantage. As soon as newcomers arrive, members of the immigration committees call upon them. They make them welcome, help them get settled and in some cases bring hampers. Through the Canadian Council of Immigration they are able to follow up special cases, especially young girls who come out as domestic helpers and take places in the country. Then begins the work of Canadianization, inculcating Canadian ideas and principles, not only in the foreign born but the British and native born as well. This is done by stressing national holidays, teaching our national songs in community singing and studying British and Canadian history.

The work of the legislation committee is along two lines, educational and agitations for laws for community betterment and the protection of women and children.

Practical Work Inestimable

The practical Women's Institute community work is inestimable. It consists in the building of halls, skating rinks, swimming pools, in maintaining rest rooms in small towns for country women and making them social centres of the community. Incentives to more and better reading are provided by starting community libraries, by obtaining traveling libraries from governmental extension departments by holding special meetings for book reviews and study of authors, stress being laid on Canadian authors.

During the war Women's Institutes were used to facilitate food control, conservation and greater production.

In many provinces the Red Cross activities in the rural districts were at the beginning of the war organized and carried on through them.

If Ontario alone they raised four million dollars in money and goods for war work. After the war they assisted greatly on the repatriation of soldiers' dependents, meeting them when they arrived and helping them get settled. They have cooperated with the home branch of the Soldiers' Settlement Board in assisting the soldiers' wives at the various short courses put on by the government. They are a medium through which the country, village, town, city, province can be united into a mighty national force through the Federated Institutes of Canada, which was organized in 1918. Today there are 2,094 branches with an approximate membership of 67,000. Is it any wonder that Canada and Canadians are proud of this great non-sectarian, non-partisan organization, which with its many links stretches from sea to sea, fervent in its service for "Home and Country."

This brief history of their inception and growth is being put in the grade VIII reader of a series of readers written by Miss Donalda Dickie, M.A. She considered this work of such vital importance in the development of the community that henceforth it will be taught in the schools.

The Wool Industry in South Africa

Letter from E. S. Bartlett, Bloemfontein, O.F.S., Africa

Underwood & Underwood
Hearing woolens with primitive looms in Africa.

Wool is a fine, soft, elastic fibre.

Four of a kind. Kaffir children

The Union of South Africa is rightly classed among the great wool producing countries of the world.

Climatic conditions there are admirably adapted to breeding and raising of the Merino type of sheep with a strong, staple wool.

A large part of this country is suitable only for the raising of sheep, and the government is making progressive and intelligent efforts to improve both the sheep and the manner of preparing the wool for market.

Jackals being a strong menace in South Africa, long-time government loans are extended to sheep owners for the erection of jackal-proof fencing. Government sheep experts are maintained permanently in allotted districts so that their services and advice may be assured at a nominal fee.

The mutton sheep of South Africa is the fat-tailed, black-headed Cape—a non-wooled sheep. As no cross-breeding for mutton lambs is done, the wools are purely Merino in character.

Progress in this South African industry is particularly noticeable in the harvesting. Despite the fact that Kaffir labor can be secured at the equivalent of $3.50 per month, there is a trend towards the modern shearing machine as against the age-old hand blades, which, even on this continent, have not been discarded by many otherwise entirely progressive wool raisers.

A study of this fact, however, readily reveals the reason for it. While there is a first cost for the machine, the unskilled black adapts himself to its use much more readily than to the hand blades, and soon does a remarkably smooth job of shearing with the machine.

Once adapted to the use of the machine, its economic value is demonstrated in the materially greater number of sheep shorn daily, the better market value of the wool, the fewer maimed sheep, and not least important, the additional 5% to 12% more wool obtained with the machine over and above the amount of wool secured with the hand blades. As a consequence, the machine resolves itself into a small investment with certain and big returns.

Steadily, the science of wool-marketing in South Africa is fast approaching the scientific efficiency of the Australian marketing plan, which is, without doubt, the most practical and efficient in existence to-day.

Considering that the four provinces, Natal, Transvaal, Orange Free State and Cape Province, which comprise the Union of South Africa, have over a million square miles less of territory than the populated Provinces of Canada, it is surprising to note that they contain over ten times as many sheep as the whole of Canada. The Union of South Africa ranks about fourth among the countries of the world in sheep population. These points alone put that country in line as a strong contender for future leadership in the wool industry.

It is interesting to note, however, that the great bulk of their progressiveness is due to quickness in observing the advantages of modern implements and machinery and up-to-date methods and discarding the old ideas that are not nearly so profitable.

In view of the wonderful progress the wool industry has made in South Africa in a comparatively short time, that industry is surely destined to take a large and important place in the economic progress of the far distant Union of South Africa.

To have been told about the new Waterton Lakes National Park dance hall is not adequate—to be appreciated it must be seen. The building is a pavilion style and is 112x112 feet outside. The outside walls are constructed by setting heavy logs at 12 foot intervals in a four foot cement foundation and filling in between with studding and metal lath then finished with pebble dash stucco and broken glass. The building is 42 feet high from floor to roof peak inside and will accommodate 1100 couples on the dance floor. There is ample window lighting—over 2,000 panes of glass. The inside is well finished with lath and plaster, and there is ample accommodation for refreshment tables in the big balcony as well as seating capacity for 300 people. The pavilion is replete with accommodation for patrons—checking office, ladies' dressing rooms, and smoking rooms, etc. The roof is supported by an immense central pillar of reinforced cement and altogether the edifice has a most imposing and attractive appearance from the outside, which impression is in no wise detracted from on viewing its interior, especially when the immense floor is crowded with merry dancers swinging and stepping to the rhythm of the $350 per week orchestra that is engaged for the season. A big Nash sedan completely overturned on Tuesday afternoon while coming down the McFarquhar hill on the Blue Trail. The car was proceeding to Macleod from Waterton Lakes and contained the driver, his mother and wife. Just a few yards from the top of the hill it swerved into the ditch on the west side and upset. The occupants although badly shaken up received no injuries, and the car after being righted by the mechanic from the Speedway Garage with the assistance of Pat Stapleton and George Robertson, had not suffered any damage with the exception of one of the fenders being bent. The occupants of the car, which carried a Los Angeles license, crawled out through the side windows, and the eldest lady was taken to Macleod by a passing car to receive medical attention as she was suffering from shock.

The C.G.I.T. camp which was held on Willow Creek this year, closed on Tuesday the 13th. The girls, twenty in number, spent a very enjoyable and helpful week, following the C.G.I.T. program for all camps in Canada. We had two very capable leaders, Mrs. Arnett from Barons and Miss Wilma Swinerton from Macleod. Next year I hope every parent may enter more into the camp spirit of the girls and let us have the best camp yet. I wish to thank Mr. Wishart, who came out on Sunday and spoke to the girls; and the Presbyterian S. S. for the invitation of our camp to their picnic. The girls and myself appreciated the treats which were sent out to us from various people in town. These are always welcome when at camp. We also thank all those who used their cars to convey the girls to and from camp. Hoping the camp next year will be a wonderful success.

RHUBARB SHORT CAKE

Every housewife knows that her family enjoys the succulent flavor of rhubarb and that a pie with its juicy bubbling under a flaky crust is always a treat. Most have also found that a dish of stewed rhubarb for breakfast is most welcome. Yet very few ever seem to think of using this delicious fruit-vegetable, which has better food value than many fruits, except in a pie or sauce.

Rhubarb short cake makes an attractive and delicious dessert. Wash the rhubarb, peel and cut into pieces. Place in an enameled ware saucepan, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until tender. The surface of enameled ware does not interact with fruit and vegetable acids, so the fruit and utensil will not be affected. Then drain off the water and for every two cups of rhubarb add one cup of sugar, and flavor with ground cinnamon to taste.

For the short cake, sift together three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Cut in one half cup shortening or rub it in with the fingers. Then add one cup of milk and one egg, well beaten. Spread evenly in a well buttered layer cake pan and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. When the filling and cake are cool, split the cake, put the rhubarb between and on top and serve with whipped cream with a little cinnamon dusted over the top.
